

Why hasn't God acted?

Is the remnant ready? Well the remnant would say "Of course we are ready! We have been ready for a long time! Act now! Give us our marching orders!" But are we?

I don't think so. Many in the remnant are holding onto sacred cows (golden calves). Let's take one example: Government Schools

I say government schools need to be eliminated. Why? Did God say to have you children taught by the government? Did God say it is okay to take money from widows as long as it is for government schools? Did God say do not steal unless it is for a good cause? No! He did not!

But many in the remnant say we just can't get rid of government schools. How else are the kids from poor families going to get an education? Seriously??? One of the major systems that has been used to destroy our country, and we need to retain it to do something which it has either done an extremely poor job with billions of dollars, or worse yet, has made kids dumber than if they had no government education at all!

There is an idea that if we just get enough people to be awake, to go to the school board meetings, and put enough pressure on the school board then we can turn this ungodly system into something that works. We look at the tactics of the ungodly and say, "Well if we do what they do, then we can get the schools back. Have you seen the private schools? Have you seen the Christian schools? The current school "system" was developed to indoctrinate, NOT to educate! But somehow many in the remnant believe if we get the right people into an ungodly system, we can get Godly results.

We have been in a maze for so long, that we argue about where to knock out a wall here, or add a door there, instead of climbing out of the maze! Yes, we have been asleep, but do we really want systems where we pay money and then must go to meeting after meeting to beg and cajole boards/councils/etc. not to spend our money on things we don't want.

Another argument is: "We can't talk about that now. Otherwise, we will lose people who would join our movement." Hmm... it seems I have heard that somewhere before? Oh yes, pastors who for years have said "We can't talk about that now. There are people who might not come to Christ if we preach the whole gospel." How's that working out???

And government schools are just one example. Let's just list a few others:

FDA – government agency to protect us from snake oil salesmen became the biggest snake oil salesman ever

CDC/NIH – government agency to protect us from diseases and they create diseases

FBI – government agency to protect us from organized crime and they became the biggest organized crime organization ever

CIA – government agency to protect us from foreign governments and they become the biggest tool for taking over our country

Department of Education – supposed to ensure the best education instead dumbed down generation after generation

Department of Justice – supposed to ensure justice for all and now punishes the innocent and lets the guilty go free

Government funding to hospitals – supposed to assist the poor with medical care, instead makes people poor with insurance costs and deductibles and now murders people to get more government funding

Every government entity that does not serve a purpose as shown in the Bible, needs to go. And if the remnant is not ready for that, why should God act? If we have the attitude of "God, you just supernaturally put the right people in charge, then it will work out better and we will go back to our barbecues, our church on Sunday morning, sports in the afternoon, etc." why should God act?

And I have just touched on government. What about churches that are "dedicated to the creator of the universe", but are basketball courts five days a week? And talk about sacred cows, what about football? I know people from high school that for a couple of years of glory now have a lifetime of aches and pains. Why did so many star high school athletes die young? Was it because we put them up on a pedestal and after graduating, their "best time" in life was over?

We need to look at everything from a Godly perspective. I saw a preview of a sitcom that is the product of a very Godly woman and was so disappointed. I don't care if you make them Christian characters or have a Christian twist at the end. Watching the idiot box with characters doing dumb things is not funny or a Godly use of time.

In Heaven, we are not going to be sitting around laughing at people doing dumb things. We are going to have moment after moment similar to watching your child take its first steps or you when you got a great insight.

We don't need to throw out everything. For example, the Constitution is still a great document (minus a couple of amendments). But, as a founder said, it is totally inadequate for an immoral people. Let the remnant search out our golden calves so that we do not recreate them after God acts.

This should not be a downer. We live in the greatest time of our lives where God is pushing us to look at everything as viewed by Him. You know we wouldn't have done it if things remained as 30 years ago. I'm all for reducing the amount of time God has to push us. So lets get rid of all the sacred cows and have only God, Jesus, and the Holy Spirit to guide us every day and what kind of country America is to be on the other side. Amen?
